PROJECT BRIEF

Your wedding is an intimate reflection of you and as such requires musical and creative attention. To authentically convey that feeling to the guests sharing in this momentous day, your musical input is invaluable.

Over the next year, we'll be working with you on your wedding soundtrack. Building on our experience of what works and what doesn't, we'll guide in the repertoire selection process from closing guest arrivals to closing song.

Most of the suggestion acts below are open to learning new repertoire, so if you've got something specific in mind, let us know. While we'll try out best to accommodate your vision, we'll also be honest when we feel something won't work musically or is not possible.

CEREMONY

The ceremony marks the bringing together of you and your families and as such should incorporate your backgrounds and represent you as a couple. With that in mind, we've put forward a few options for to choose from. All of the acts below are able to play a 15-20-minute set to welcome guests into the ceremony area.

ARTIST SELECTION

Solo guitar + vocals:

Reinterpreting a range of songs from Drake's Hot Line Bling to Alicia Key's If I Ain't Got You, Ethan Florus is known for his smooth vocals and deft guitar playing. He developed his vocal and guitar skills during the 5 years he spent at the Stellenbosch University Konservatorium. He drives his passion for the art by sharing his skills through teaching, and his music through performing and recording.

Another great option to consider for the ceremony is solo guitar player and vocalist Lize Mynhardt.

Lize Mynhardt is a gifted, driven, and influential musician, spending the last decade writing and releasing her own songs. Born in Cape Town, South Africa, Lize was blessed with perfect pitch and has mastered seven instruments excluding her voice, making her a unique artist. She has released 9 songs, a Christmas album in aid of Pebbles Project charity, and has collaborated with a diverse group of other artists including DJ Cosher, Howard Edward, DSB, DJ Qness, Ben Ludik and producers from Nashville.

African Choir:

Given that some of your guests will be joining us from overseas, the use of an African choir is a beautiful way to welcome them to South Africa.

The Asili Vocal Ensemble was created by a group of friends who share the joy of making music together. Rooted in choral singing, they have a fusion of classical, opera, pop and jazz in their sound. Their mission is to create magical, music moments that warm the hearts of their audiences.

Ranging from a 5-piece to a 10-piece, the Asili Vocal Ensemble can perform a cappella or with an accompaniment.

String quartet:

If you're looking to go in a more traditional direction, we'd recommend using a string quartet. The string quartet we regularly use features 2 x violins, 1 x viola and 1 x cello and has a large repertoire range from contemporary to classical pieces.

String quartet - Coldplay - Fix You

Depending on budget, we can also combine some of the options above – for instance, we've used 5 members of Asili and combined them with the string quartet to perform well known songs including Stand By Me, At Last and Your Song.

TRANSITION

Leading the guests from the ceremony area to the pre-drinks, we spoke about using African drummers. These drummers would then join a marimba band positioned at the pre-drinks area on the lawn.

PRE-DRINKS

As guests arrive in the pre-drinks area, they'll be greeted by a Il Afro Suns Marimba band to which the percussionists who lead the procession will join. We suggest that the marimba band plays for 30-40-minutes after which Rus Nerwich will start DJing performing an Afro-electronic feature, livening up the tempo for the remainder of the event.

Rus Nerwich – DJ

Hailing from Cape Town, saxophonist, composer, producer and DJ Rus Nerwich has established himself as one of South Africa's most creative and prolific recording and performing artists. Crossing genres from jazz and funk to world music and neo-soul, Rus' style is diverse, engaging and constantly evolving.

DINNER

As the dinner and dance area are revealed, guests are greeted by Francesca Biancoli and a 4-piece jazz quartet. Over the course of dinner, Francesca and Nathan will take the stage performing a range of Bossa Nova and Crooner style songs.
