Tones of Note

Music proposal | Daisy and Andrew – 19 – 21 November 2020

Your wedding is an intimate reflection of you and as such requires musical and creative attention. To authentically convey that feeling to the guests sharing in this momentous day, your musical input is invaluable.

Over the next months, we'll be working with you on your wedding soundtrack. Building on our experience of what works and what doesn't, we'll guide you in the repertoire selection process from guest arrivals to closing song.

Most of the suggested acts below are open to learning new repertoire, so if you've got something specific in mind, let us know. While we'll try to our best to accommodate you, we'll also be honest when we feel something won't work musically or is not possible.

Wedding – Friday, 20 November 2020

Ceremony:

As guests arrive and take their seats for the ceremony, they'll be welcomed by 9-piece vocal ensemble Asili, whose repertoire includes traditional African, hymns as well as contemporary pieces. The addition of piano accompaniment opens the repertoire up to instrumental pieces and there is also the option of playing songs through the PA. Marking this joyous occasion, Asili to end the ceremony with an impactful song, leading guests to the pre-drinks area.

Expresso Show - Something Inside So Strong

Pre-drinks:

Building on the emotion created at the ceremony, this period allows guests to catch up with friends and family while taking in their surroundings. The music during this time should animate/enliven those conversations not interfere or compete with them.

Reinterpreting and performing a wide range of songs from Drake's Hot Line Bling to Alicia Key's If I Ain't Got You, Ethan Florus brings warmth and soul to his performances in a refreshing way. Ethan performs in a few musical configurations but given the number guests and function, we'd recommend a trio or quartet for this set.
